

A Year of Integration

our year in review

Last year, we made a significant difference in the lives of 31,470,549 people living in 35 different countries, with over half of the recipients being women and girls. This is an increase of nearly 10 million more people from 2021. Our efforts spanned across 193 projects, and we're proud to share that we provided critical services almost 40 million times.

Our work on Neglected Tropical Diseases like 'sleeping syndrome' and 'river blindness,' which tend to impact the world's most disadvantaged while getting the least attention, allowed us to reach 9.8 million people in Kenya and Ethiopia alone. We also extended our services to over one million people to combat tuberculosis, which remains a significant threat in many parts of the world. As the cornerstone of our work, our maternal and childcare outreach provided essential services to 1.7 million girls, women, and families, and we're happy to announce we've trained over 60,000 new community and facility-based health workers!

Integrating services is key to creating lasting health change, and this is one thing we really focused on in 2022. We remain committed to providing sustainable healthcare access to those in need and are grateful for your support in making a positive impact on the lives of millions of Africans across the continent!

2022 TCS New York City Marathon

For the eighth consecutive year, Amref had the distinct honor of being chosen as an Official Charity Partner for the 2022 TCS New York City Marathon, allowing us once again to raise essential funds for Amref's Reproductive, Maternal, Newborn, Child and Adolescent Health programs, ensuring that mothers and babies receive the vital care they need for a strong and healthy start in life.

Our heartfelt gratitude extends to our incredible team of 15 runners who dedicated their 26.2 miles to charity! Together, they managed to raise an astonishing $41,300, a testament to the power of their commitment and the generosity of those who supported them.

Water Is Life: 2022 World Water Day Limited Edition Benefit Pitchers

Lack of access to clean water and proper sanitation is one of the most common public health challenges in many communities across the African continent. This has become especially prevalent in the wake of climate change, which is disproportionately affecting low- and middle-income countries. The communities we work with, especially those in rural areas, are facing a water crisis that is a threat to their health and livelihoods.

To bring awareness to World Water Day 2022, we raised funds for our water and sanitation programs, while also celebrating the work of contemporary Black artists through a limited edition run of water pitchers. Special thanks to Nadia Nascimento for producing the pitchers, and to the generous donating artists: Shantell Martin, Amy Amalia, Patrick Martinez, and Hugo McCloud.

Power to Youth Program, Kenya

- 300+ girls were saved from undergoing FGM in Migori County, Kenya
- Homa Bay County youth helped a health facility reopen after identifying gaps in their local health facilities and submitting a social audit

Malawi Youth's collective advocacy moved the Ministry of General & Social Welfare to review the Community Victim Support Unit and start including young people in the conversation for change.
